

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

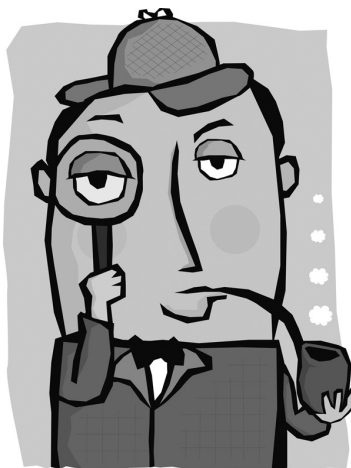

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

A scandal is exposed!

Learning Outcome

Explain customs and appropriate behaviour at work and in different countries, using a wider range of expressions and formulas.

Can Do Statements

- I can speculate about rules and regulations.
- I can talk about jobs and work.
- I can emphasize that something is true.

Ask your partner:

- What kind of scandals are you aware of in your city or country?
- What kind of ethical responsibilities do you think companies have to their employees, shareholders, the country, etc.?

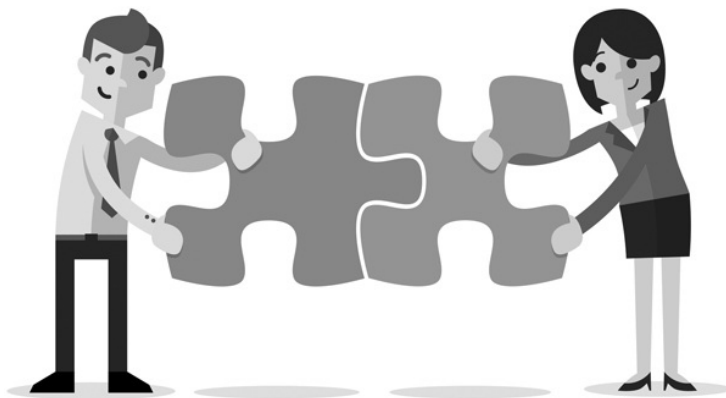

Let's Explore!

Paulo finds the missing piece of the puzzle.

* The "piece of the puzzle" is the piece of information needed to solve a mystery or problem.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Paulo: Ferdinand, my investigation may be finished. I can tell you that I found the missing piece of the puzzle.
- Ferdinand: What did you discover?
- Paulo: His manufacturing really is outsourced and, believe it or not, involves child labor. Naturally, he would be put in jail if this practice was adopted here.
- Ferdinand: Of course. But has he broken any international laws?
- Paulo: As it happens, none of the foreign country's laws have been broken. But there are standards which international companies may be expected to follow. And, the fact remains that child labor is illegal in countries where the clothes would be marketed. They might be at the center of a major scandal. Of course, child labor breaks international labor standards.
- Ferdinand: Are these teenagers?
- Paulo: No. In fact, these children start at the age of seven. Of course, there are justifications. For instance, very poor children could be protected from others who might lead them into illegal activities.
- Ferdinand: There are more humane alternatives. This should be reported immediately.
- Paulo: Yes, but hold your horses. Holly's is not a social service.
- Ferdinand: Right. Are there international requirements that could be demanded for a business?
- Paulo: They aren't powerful because countries don't all agree. Of course, there are watchdog organizations that could be used. They use social pressure.
- Ferdinand: Do you think Farmani is aware of this?
- Paulo: It's hard to say. Children must be hidden when foreigners come to visit the factories. But it is obvious that the homework, which should have been done by him, wasn't done properly.

Let's Practice!

Paulo uncovers the truth.

Instructions: Use the words from the box to correctly complete the sentences.

Of course / believes it or not / Natural / In fact / It is obvious / believe it or not / Naturally

1. His manufacturing really is outsourced and, _____, involves child labor.
2. _____, he would be put in jail if this practice was adopted here.
3. _____, these children start at the age of seven.
4. _____, there are justifications.
5. _____ that the homework, which should have been done by him, wasn't done properly.

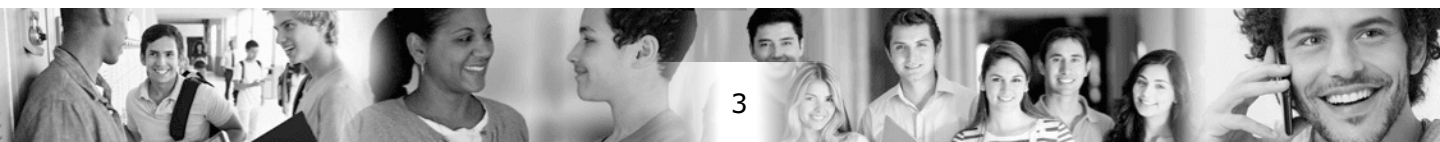

Let's Practice!

Paulo and Ferdinand talk about rules and expectations.

Instructions: Choose the correct answer to complete each sentence.

1. He _____ in jail if this practice was adopted here.
a) would be put b) must be stopped c) could be protected
2. But there are standards which international companies _____ to follow.
a) could be demanded b) would be put c) may be expected
3. Child labor is illegal in the countries where the clothes _____.
a) should be marketed b) would be marketed c) could be marketed
4. Very poor children _____ from others who might lead them into illegal activities.
a) could be protected b) should be reported c) could protected
5. This _____ immediately.
a) could be protected b) should be reported c) could protected
6. Are there international requirements that _____ of a business?
a) could be demanded b) could demanded c) could be demand

Extension Activity

Research Child Labor Laws.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Choose a country that you want to learn more about.
- On the internet, research the labor laws, especially the child labor laws, in that country.
- Take notes of what you learned.
- Write a short report (2 paragraphs) about the labor laws in the country you chose.
- Present your information to your class or group.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about jobs and work.

☐ ☐

I emphasize things that are true.

☐ ☐

I research labor laws.

☐ ☐

I write a report about my research.

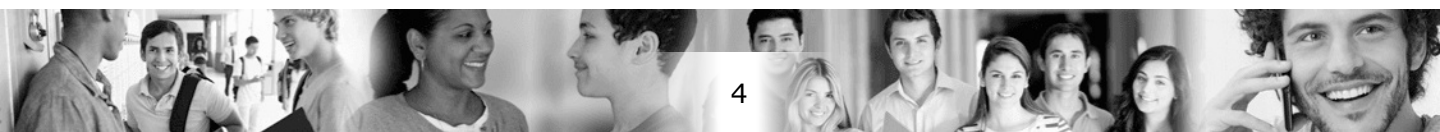

☐ ☐

I present information to a group.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- investigation (noun): a detailed study of a subject e.g. My investigation may be finished.
- manufacturing (noun): the business of producing goods in large numbers e.g. The manufacturing is done in the factory.
- to adopt (verb): to start behaving in a particular way, especially by choice e.g. He would be put in jail if this practice was adopted here.
- to outsource (verb): pay to have part of the work done by another company e.g. His manufacturing is outsourced.
- standards (noun): a moral rule that should be obeyed
e.g. There are standards which international companies may be expected to follow.
- to follow (verb): to obey or to act as ordered by someone e.g. You must follow the rules.
- justification (noun): a good reason or explanation for something e.g. There are justifications for his actions.
- social service (noun): a service provided by government to help people e.g. Holly's is not a social service.
- watchdog organization (noun): a group that watches the activities of a company to report illegal acts or problems e.g. There are watchdog organizations that could be used.
- social pressure (expression): pressure from the public
e.g. They use social pressure to cause change.

Learning Points

Modal Verbs in the Passive Voice

You use modal verbs to add meaning to other verbs. They come before the dictionary form (infinitive without 'to') of the main verb.

Modal verbs can add meaning connected with speculations, certainty or obligation.

You can use modal verbs in the passive voice.

You use the passive voice when you want to focus on the receiver of the action, rather than the 'doer' of the action.

Here is the structure of a passive sentence:

Subject + to be + past participle

For example:

The investigation is finished.

You can add a modal verb before to be.

Subject + modal + to be + past participle

For example:

My investigation may be finished.

Here the sentence now has an additional meaning of possibility because of the modal may.

Examples:

- He would be put in jail if this practice was adopted here.
- But there are standards which international companies may be expected to follow.
- Very poor children could be protected from others who might lead them into illegal activities.
- This should be reported immediately.
- Are there international requirements that could be demanded of a business?

Learning Points

Using Expressions like “of course” and “in fact”

You use expressions like of course, in fact, naturally, believe it or not, and really to emphasize that something is true.

Using “of course”

- To say that you agree or disagree with someone
- Of course. But has he broken any international laws?
- To say something that you believe someone probably already knows or will not be surprised about.
- Of course, there are justifications.

Using “in fact”

- To add something to what you have just said, especially something that may seem surprising.
- In fact, these children start at the age of seven.

You also use phrases like “really”, “naturally”, “believe it or not” and “it is obvious” to emphasize that something is true.

Examples:

- His manufacturing really is outsourced and, believe it or not, involves child labor.
- Naturally, he would be put in jail if this practice was adopted here.
- In fact, these children start at the age of seven.
- Of course, there are justifications.
- It is obvious that the homework, which should have been done by him, wasn't done properly.

