

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Explain customs and appropriate behavior at work and in different countries, using a wider range of expressions and formulas.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about expectations in the past and present.
- I can talk about work and jobs.
- I can emphasize that something is true.

Ask your partner:

- What do you like to do in your spare time?
- What kind of hobbies do you enjoy?
- Are there any activities that you don't do now but would like to try?

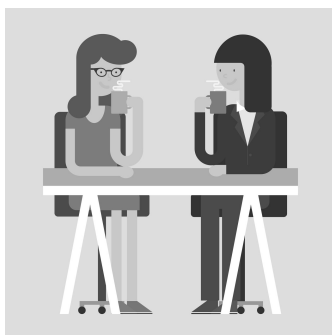

Let's Explore!

Miranda reveals a secret. She's a dark horse!

* A "dark horse" is a person who keeps their interests and skills secret.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Miranda: Isn't this a great place?
- Janet: Yes, and it's classy. In fact, I've never heard of it before.
- Miranda: It's not new. Actually, I come here all the time. I was going to bring you here but I never had a chance to.
- Janet: There were so many things we were supposed to do together. In fact, going for a drink was one of them.
- Miranda: I know, but you don't like to mix business with pleasure so ...
- Janet: That's true, but today we're not here to talk business. Let's have a drink.
- Miranda: Absolutely. This will help you take your mind off things.
- Janet: So, how did you come across this place?
- Miranda: Actually, I used to play gigs here.
- Janet: You were a musician? I didn't know that.
- Miranda: I wasn't supposed to tell you. My career counselor advised me not to. Of course, she thought that this information was going to jeopardize my chances of getting a better job.
- Janet: What's the matter with that? Actually, the music and the fashion industry are closely connected to each other.
- Miranda: I know. It was just a hobby but it was an arduous task. I was only supposed to play three nights a week but ended up playing almost every night for no money.
- Janet: This is interesting. Thanks for sharing that with me.
- Miranda: No problem. I know I'm supposed to mind my own business, but what actually motivated you to sponsor five children?
- Janet: I was just appalled by the situation in other countries and wanted to help. We're very lucky to have the lifestyle we do, and I want others to have the same opportunities.
- Miranda: Wow. You're so compassionate. I'm glad we work together.

Let's Practice!

Miranda and Janet discuss some personal issues.

Instructions: Match the words from column A with the ones on column B to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

COLUMN A

1. If you mix business with pleasure,
2. To jeopardize something means
3. If you are closely connected to someone,
4. People will tell you to mind your own business
5. People who are compassionate
6. When you feel shocked by something bad,
7. A person or organization can
8. Task
9. Stylish or fashionable
10. If you are worried, find something

COLUMN B

- () is another word for job.
- () you have a close relationship.
- () if you ask too many personal questions.
- () you mix work and fun.
- () is also called classy.
- () you are appalled.
- () feel sympathy for others and want to help them.
- () to put something in danger.
- () to take your mind off it.
- () sponsor someone who needs support.

Let's Practice!

Janet and Miranda get their facts straight!.

Instructions: Read the dialogue. Underline all the sentences that do NOT contain an expression that emphasizes that something is true.

Miranda: Isn't this a great place?

Janet: Yes. In fact, I've never heard of it.

Miranda: It's not new. Actually, I come here quite often. I was going to bring you here but never had the chance to.

Janet: There were so many things we were supposed to do together. In fact, going for a drink was one of them.

Extension Activity

Write about expectations in the past.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Think about some things that you expected to do in the past but that you didn't do. (You can make them up).
- Write at least 6 sentences expressing what you were going to do.
- Include a "but" phrase to express what happened or why you didn't do what you expected.
- Share your sentences with a partner.
- Help your partner correct any errors in his or her sentences.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about expectations in the past.

☐ ☐

I write sentences about expectations in the past.

☐ ☐

I share sentences with a partner.

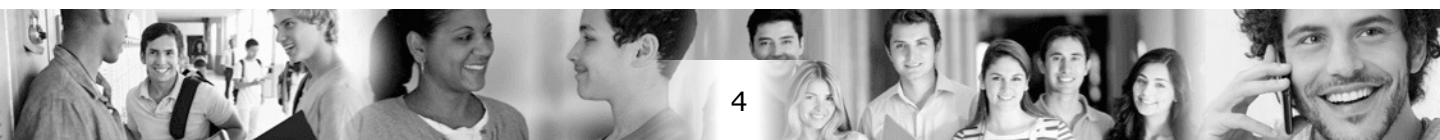

☐ ☐

I help my partner correct sentences.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- classy (adjective): stylish or fashionable e.g. Yes, and it's classy.
- to mix business with pleasure (expression): to mix work and fun
e.g. You don't like to mix business with pleasure.
- to take your mind off something (expression): to allow you to stop worrying about something e.g. It will help you take your mind off things.
- to jeopardize (verb): to put in danger
e.g. This information was going to jeopardize my chances of getting a better job.
- to be closely connected (expression): to be closely connected e.g. The music and the fashion industry are closely connected to each other.
- task (noun): job
e.g. It was just a hobby but it was an arduous task.
- to mind your own business (expression): to not ask someone private questions
e.g. I know I'm supposed to mind my own business.
- to sponsor (verb): to support a person, organization, or activity by giving money, encouragement, or other help e.g. What actually motivated you to sponsor five children?
- appalled (adjective): shocked by something bad e.g. I was just appalled by the situation in poor countries and wanted to help.
- compassionate (adjective): feeling sympathy for people and a need to help them e.g. You're so compassionate.

Learning Points

Be Supposed To and Be Going To

You use the structure be supposed to and was/were going to when you want to talk about expectations, obligations or arrangements.

You can use be supposed to to talk about situations in the past, present or future.

The structure is:

subject + to be + supposed to + verb

Present: He is supposed to look into that today.

Past: He was supposed to look into that yesterday.

Future: He is supposed to look into that tomorrow.

You use be going to in the past to talk about something that was expected but did not happen. The sentence sometimes includes a "but" phrase to explain what happened.

The structure is:

subject + was/were going to + verb

Example:

I was going to bring you here but never had a chance to.

NOTE: When you say "supposed to", you link the /d/ and /t/ sounds together, Like this: be suppose_to

Examples:

- I was going to bring you here but never had a chance to.
- There were so many things we were supposed to do together.
- I wasn't supposed to tell you.
- She thought that this information was going to jeopardize my chances of getting a better job.
- I was only supposed to play three times a week but ended up playing almost every night.
- Of course I'm supposed to mind my own business.

Learning Points

Using Expressions like "Of course" and "In fact"

You use expressions like of course, in fact, actually and really to emphasize that something is true.

Using "of course"

To say that you agree or disagree with someone.

Of course, but has he broken any international laws?

To say something that you believe someone probably already knows or will not be surprised about.

Of course, there are justifications.

Using "in fact" and "actually"

To add something to what you have just said, especially something that may seem surprising.

In fact, these children start at the age of seven.

You also use phrases like "really", "naturally" and "it is obvious" to emphasize that something is true.

Examples:

- In fact, I've never heard of it.
- Actually, I come here quite often.
- In fact, going for a drink was one of them.
- Actually, I used to do gigs here.
- It's obvious that the music and the fashion industry are closely connected to each other.
- Of course I'm supposed to mind my own business, but what actually motivated you to sponsor five children?

