

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

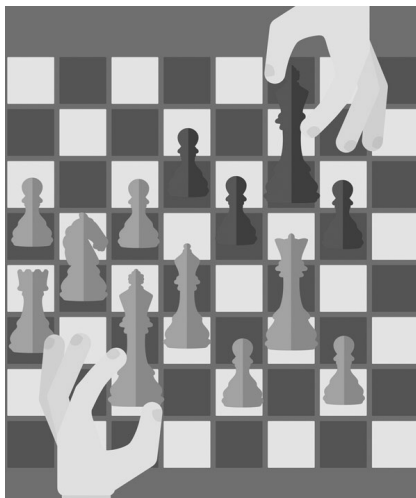

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

It's time to come up with a new strategy!

Learning Outcome

Explain customs and appropriate behavior at work and in different countries, using a wider range of expressions and formulas.

Can Do Statements

- I can make and respond to recommendations.
- I can talk about jobs and work.
- I can plan a strategy for an action in the future, compared to a strategy in the past.

Ask your partner:

- How good are you at planning effective strategies?
- When did you plan a strategy but have to change it because you didn't get the result you wanted?

Let's Explore!

What's the matter?* Rocco and Janet put their heads together*!

* "What's the matter?" is an expression you can use to ask what the problem is.

 "Put your heads together" means to think and work together to solve a problem.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Rocco: Ok, so we have a delicate business at hand.
- Janet: I called you in because of your discretion.
- Rocco: What's the matter?
- Janet: We have a crisis and I'm worried about what approach I will adopt when confronting Farmani.
- Rocco: Why don't we start from the beginning? I think we should consider planning this carefully.
- Janet: It's a good idea. I have a few reservations about the issue that we ought to discuss.
- Rocco: Your initial concern wasn't personal. I recommend starting there.
- Janet: Alright. First, I was concerned about the rumor affecting our reputation.
- Rocco: Right. You managed that first crisis well. Couldn't we use the same approach?
- Janet: Sorry, but I don't think it would work. The last crisis was prevention. This one will involve change.
- Rocco: I see. Perhaps you could look at it from a different perspective. The first crisis came from a direct decision Farmani made. This time we will need to make Farmani fully aware of the problem.
- Janet: I see your point. We had better present the problem directly to him.
- Rocco: It's a good idea. It's probably worth acting as if you believe he's entirely innocent. You could always make it look as if you want to help, not accuse him.
- Janet: I like it. It might prove effective.
- Rocco: Exactly. Then, I suggest you add your personal concern.
- Janet: I'm not sure about that.
- Rocco: Take it from me, it will soften things if it looks as if you are appealing to his good nature. I have the feeling he will take advantage of this. This will make him want to become a human rights fighter.

Let's Practice!

Rocco makes some good suggestions.

Instructions: Read the sentence. Select the correct answer. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. I recommend ...
 - a. we using the same approach.
 - b. we used the same approach.
 - c. we use the same approach.
2. We should ...
 - a. considering planning this carefully.
 - b. considered planning this carefully.
 - c. consider planning this carefully.
3. You could ...
 - a. make it look as if you want to help him.
 - b. made it look as if you want to help him.
 - c. making it look as if you want to help him.
4. We had better ...
 - a. presents the problem directly to him.
 - b. present the problem directly to him.
 - c. presented the problem directly to him.
5. I suggest you ...
 - a. add your personal concern.
 - b. adding your personal concern.
 - c. added your personal concern.
6. Why don't we ...
 - a. start from the beginning?
 - b. starting from the beginning?
 - c. started from the beginning?

Let's Practice!

Rocco gives Janet some planning advice.

Instructions: Write the correct word at the end of the correct definition.

word bank

confront / soften / discretion / prevention / to take advantage / appeal

1. To face, meet or deal with a difficult situation or person. _____
2. The ability to keep information secret. _____
3. The act of stopping something from happening or stopping someone from doing something. _____
4. To use something to improve your situation. _____
5. To become more gentle or less straight. _____
6. To interest or attract someone. _____

Extension Activity

Summarize a TED Talk.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Watch Martin Reeves's TED@BCG Berlin Talk entitled "Your strategy needs a strategy."
- Talk notes as you watch. Watch as many times as you need.
- What recommendations does he make for strategizing?
- Write a paragraph to summarize what you learned from the video. Be sure to include whether or not you agree with the speaker.
- Present your summary to your class or group.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I talk about jobs and work.

☐ ☐

I watch a video and make notes.

☐ ☐

I write a summary about a video.

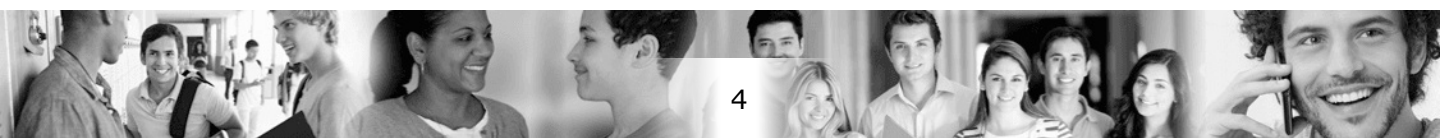

☐ ☐

I present my summary to a group.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- discretion (noun): the ability to keep information secret e.g. I called you in because of your discretion.
- approach (noun): a way of considering or doing something e.g. We have a crisis and I'm worried about what approach I will adopt.
- to confront (verb): to face, meet, or deal with a difficult situation or person e.g. I don't want to confront him but we have to discuss this problem.
- concern (noun): something that is important to you e.g. Your initial concern wasn't personal.
- prevention (noun): to stop something in advance from occurring e.g. Careful planning will play a role in the prevention of financial difficulties.
- to look at something from a different perspective (expression): change the way you think about something e.g. Perhaps you could look at it from a different perspective.
- to soften (verb): to become more gentle or less strict e.g. It will soften things if it looks as if you are appealing to his good nature.
- to appeal (verb): to interest or attract someone e.g. If you need to borrow money, you should appeal to his generous side.
- to take advantage of (expression): to use something to make your situation better e.g. I have the feeling he will take advantage of this.

Learning Points

Making Suggestions

You use modals to make suggestions.

You can also use verbs like recommend and suggest.

The most common modals for making suggestions are: should, could, ought to and had better.

You can think of modals as “helping verbs”. They add meaning to the main verb of a sentence. In this case, these modals add the meaning of advice and suggestion.

Should is the most common modal used to give advice and to make suggestions.

Ought to and had better are used for giving strong advice and making strong suggestions.

You can use the verbs recommend and suggest to make suggestions.

For example:

I recommend starting there.

I recommend that you start there.

I suggest starting there.

I recommend that you start there.

You can also you a question starting with Why don't you/we ...

For example:

Why don't we start from the beginning?

Subject	Modal	Main Verb
We	should	consider	planning this carefully.
We	ought to	discuss	the issue together.
We	had better	present	the problem directly to him.
You	could	look	at it from a different perspective.

Examples:

- Couldn't we use the same approach?
- You could always make it look as if you want to help, not accuse him.
- We had better present the problem directly to him.
- I suggest you add your personal concern.
- I recommend starting there.

Learning Points

Using the Simple Present, Past and Future Tenses to Plan a Strategy

When you talk about a strategy you can use the present, past and future tenses to explain your ideas.

When you are making a plan for the future you use the simple future.

For example:

This time we will need to make Farmani fully aware of the problem.

To justify or explain your future plans, you can use the simple present.

For example:

I have a few reservations about the issue that we ought to discuss.

You can also use the past tense to show that you are basing your plans on past experience.

For example:

The first crisis came from a direct decision Farmani made.

Examples:

- We have a crisis and I'm worried about what approach I will adopt when confronting Farmani.
- I was concerned about the rumor affecting our reputation.
- I recommend starting there.
- This one will involve change.
- Perhaps you could look at it from a different perspective.

